DEATHS IN HOTEL FIRE IN TOLEDO

Niagara, One of the Oldest Hostelrys In the City, Partly Destroyed

BELIEVED EIGHT OR TEN ARE BURIED IN RUINS

SEARCH WAS ABANDONED

After Continuing All Night On Account of Peril to Those Working Under Artificial Lights—Loss On Building Probably Will Be $100,000—Rescue Work Resumed Monday.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Toledo, April 5.—Further search for bodies in the ruins of the Niagara hotel, partially destroyed by fire at an early hour Sunday morning, was discontinued at 10 o'clock Sunday night. One person, Mrs. John L. Frye of Adrian, Mich., is dead. Her husband it is believed, is lost. Firemen searching the ruins believe there are eight or ten bodies buried in the debris. The attempt on the part of firemen and other city employees to continue the search and the removal of debris throughout the night by the use of artificial lights proved too hazardous and tedious. The search was resumed early Monday morning. No more bodies had been recovered up to the hour when the search temporarily ended. Mr. Frye, the dead woman's husband, an Adrian baker, is missing and the discovery of clothing in the same apartment is evidence enough that he is buried somewhere in the wreckage. The young couple was married last Thursday and had come to Toledo to buy furniture for their home. Other bodies are expected to be recovered. Total damage on the building will aggregate about $100,000.

Four hundred men were at work in the mine when the explosion occurred, all are known to have escaped except seventeen. Seven men are known to have perished in an explosion in the mine of the Shoal Creek Coal company near here today. Ten are missing. The bodies of the seven men have been recovered.

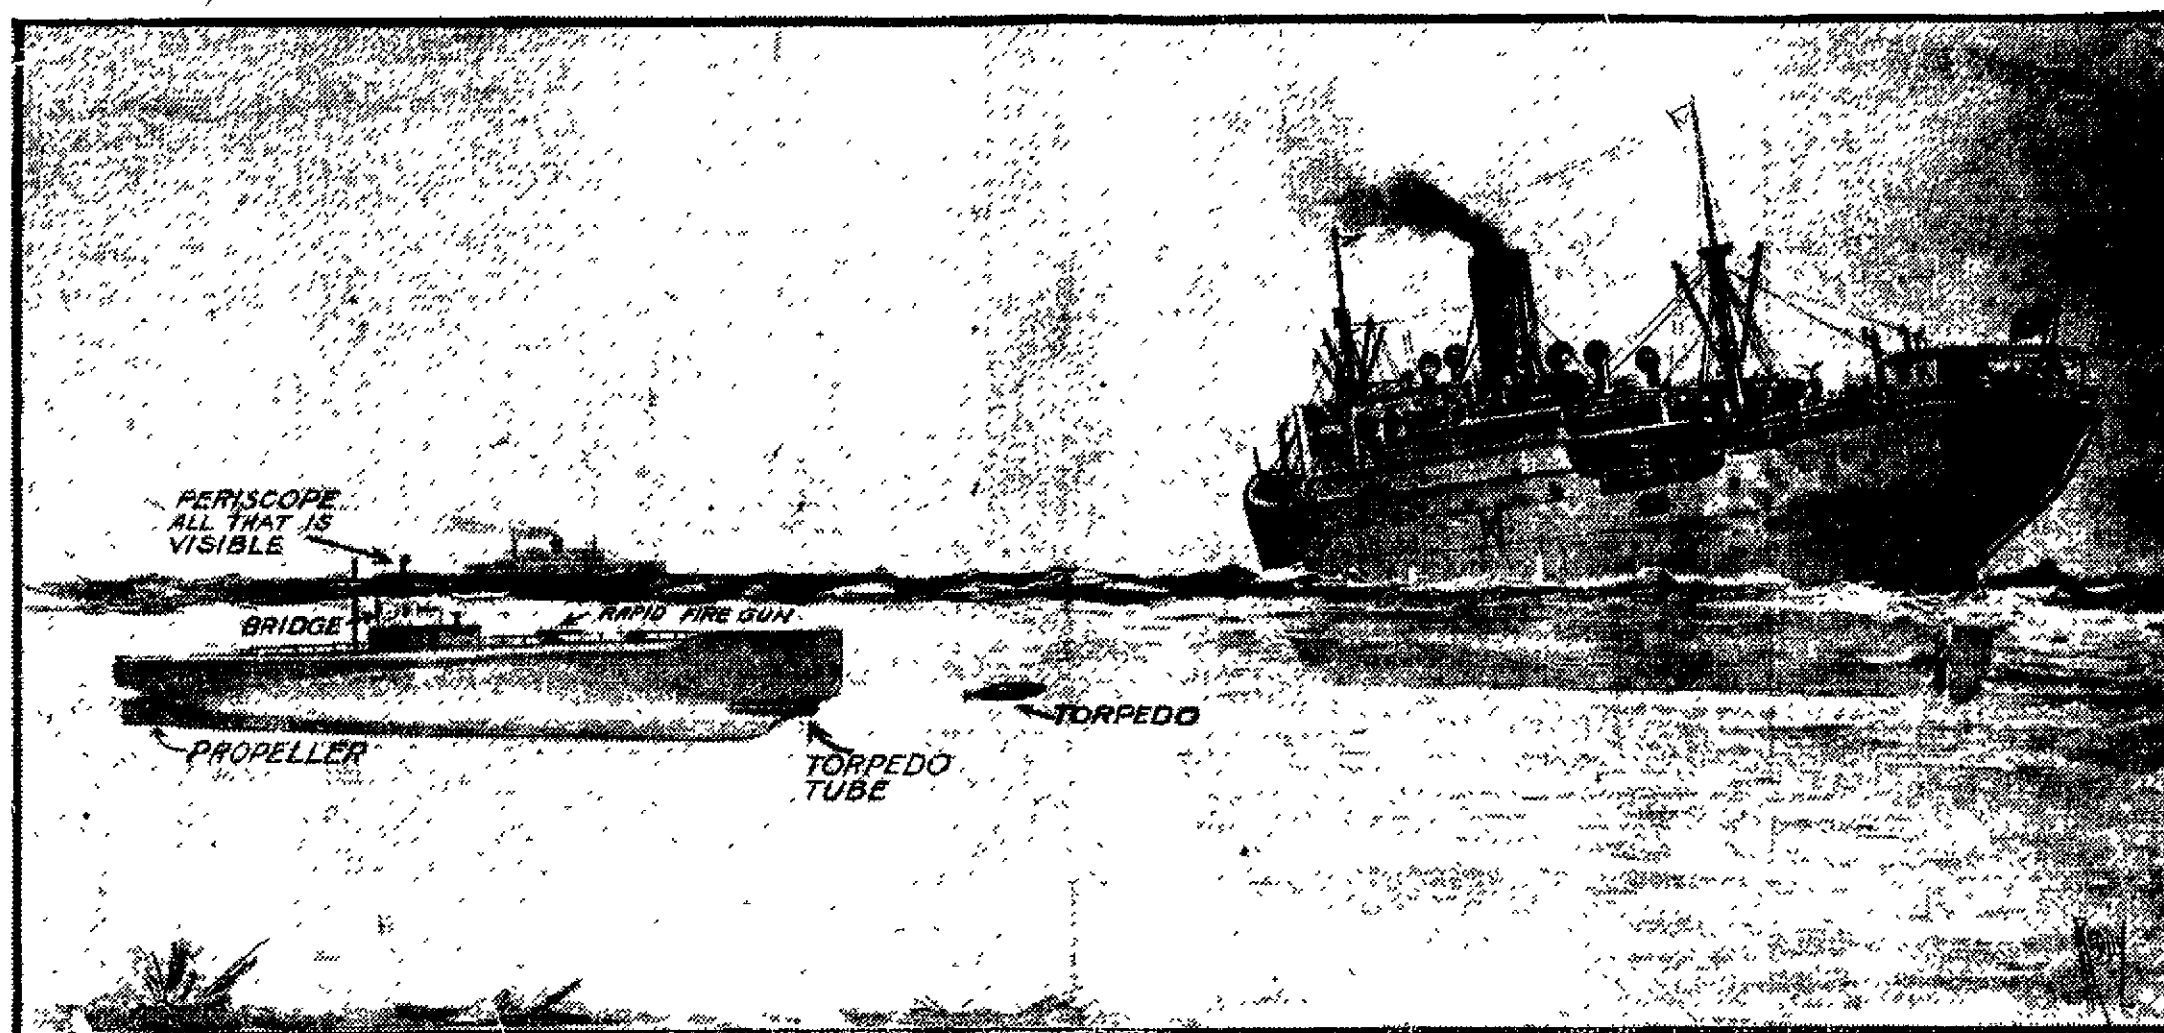

AMERICAN NOTE TO GERMANY HAS BEEN PUBLISHED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, April 5.—The American note to Germany on the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye by the German auxiliary Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was made public here today. It is confined principally to a recital of the legal aspects of the sinking of the Frye and in polite and diplomatic language suggests that Germany makes "reparation."

GERMANS SINK RUSSIAN AND ENGLISH VESSELS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 5.—The Russian steamer Olive and the Russian bark Hermes were sunk by a German submarine Sunday afternoon off the Isle of Wight. The crews of the two vessels took to their boats and were rescued by a British torpedo boat destroyer.

How a German Submarine Sank the Falaba, When 140 Persons Were Lost.

No fewer than 140 persons, including passengers and crew, went to their deaths when a German submarine attacked the British ship Falaba the other day. This drawing by A. W. Reddy, a well known marine artist, shows how the ship was attacked. Among those lost on her was Leon C. Thrasher, an American of Massachusetts, a mining engineer. "We have orders to sink everything," said the commander of the submarine U-10 which sank three British trawlers April 1.

That is the new German method of war, as shown in the sinking of the Falaba without notice, which resulted in the loss of so many lives. While the number of British ships sunk by the submarines is not large when compared to the total amount of shipping from British ports, yet it is sufficient already to make many mariners pause. And it has been the cause of insurance rates going up. It is becoming the opinion of those who have watched the German operations that they purpose terrorizing

British commerce. If they continue to sink ships without warning so crew and passengers are lost, they figure, it will have a more deterrent effect on commerce than the mere loss of ships and cargoes.

Jess Willard Defeats Negro Champion for The Title and a Monetary Fortune, In a Great Fistic Encounter Staged This Afternoon In Havana

BATTLE BY ROUNDS.

Round One.
Time was called at 1:53. Johnson feinted and landed his left on Willard's jaw. Repeated uppercuts with right to Willard's jaw. The latter was very nervous. Johnson was laughing. Willard drove two lefts to the negro's body. Johnson drove right to Willard's body.

Round Two.
Johnson easily blocked Willard's leads, feinting him out of position and scoring right and left to jaw. Willard replied with a thrashing right to negro's body. Johnson then hooked a left to stomach. Johnson then landed three lefts to the body.

Willard laughed. Johnson then drove Willard to the ropes with a tattoo of lefts to the face.

Round Three.
After much feinting Willard missed a right swing and both laughed. Johnson rushed and scored a left on the body and a right to the jaw. Johnson landed left on the body. Willard asked "Is that the way you do it?"

Round Four.
Willard lunged ineffectually. Johnson laughed at his clumsy efforts. There was much feinting. Johnson landed a left to the ribs and swung

Round Five.
Johnson poked a light left and right to Jess's face. The referee ordered the fighters to break from a clinch. The negro smashed a hard one to Willard's ribs and drove three blows to the cowboy's stomach. The champion rushed Willard to the ropes, scoring punches to the head and to the body. Willard was badly distressed. The challenger was rattled and boxed like an amateur.

Round Six.
The negro was calm at the opening of this round. He beat Willard to the ropes with a fusillade of lefts. On the break Johnson landed a smash at the giant's jaw. The negro rubbed Willard's cut lip at every opportunity. The negro landed three smashing blows to Willard's unprotected body at the belt. Johnson was hammering hard at Willard's body. The cowboy's left cheek was cut.

Round Seven.
Johnson was using every artifice to force the fighting. He rushed Willard to the ropes, slugging with both hands repeatedly. Willard's long left temporarily blinded the negro's left eye. Johnson came back with a series of swings to Willard's body. It was a very clean fight so far.

Round Eight.
Willard was gaining confidence and tried his hand at forcing the pace. Johnson accepted his challenge. The pugilists battered each other across the ring, the negro having the better of it. Willard landed on Johnson's mouth. Then Johnson uppercutted Willard over the heart. Willard bounced off the ropes and landed a left to the jaw. The round ended with the negro swinging blows to Willard's head.

Round Nine.
Willard assumed the aggressive. Johnson started one of the cowboy's ears bleeding. The champion landed frequently, but his blows appeared to lack their old-time punch. Amidst feinting the crowd "shouted" "Kill the black bear." Johnson immediately started to rally, by driving three hard hooks to Willard's stomach. A left by Willard started the negro's mouth bleeding. The latter slugged the white man to the ropes.

Round Ten.
Johnson was slow in coming from his corner. Willard scored two lefts on the face. Willard was blocking better as his nervousness wore off. Johnson swung a left to Willard's ribs and sent half a dozen blows to Willard's body and jaw. The negro (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)

Storm Claims a Hundred Victims; Dozens of Sea-Craft Swept Ashore; Stories Told of Thrilling Rescues

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, April 5.—Latest reports received here of the effects of the great storm which swept the Atlantic coast Friday and Saturday indicated that the toll of human life would reach one hundred persons. The Royal Dutch West Indies steamer Prinz Maurits with forty nine persons aboard, is believed to have foundered off Cape Hatteras. Not a word that would give hope that the vessel was still afloat, was received today.

Fifteen of the crew of the seagoing tug Edward Luckenbach perished when the tug was wrecked off False Cape, Virginia.

Two men were drowned when two coal barges broke away from the tug Cumberland and were pounded to pieces off Cape Henlopen, Delaware.

Thirteen men aboard the barge Tampico, which broke away from her tow, are believed to have been lost. Dozens of barges, schooners and other craft went ashore at various points along the coast whose crews were rescued by other vessels or coast guards.

It is feared that other casualties may be reported.

SHIPS TORN FROM MOORINGS AND DRIVEN BEFORE FIERCE GALE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Norfolk, Va., April 5.—Every possible effort, both from land and sea, was being made today to learn the fate of the Royal Dutch West Indies company's steamer Prinz Maurits, believed to have foundered off Hatteras with a loss of about 50 persons in the great storm that lashed the South Atlantic coast Saturday. Coast guard cutters, warships and other craft searching for the Maurits yesterday, found no trace of the vessel in the spot from where she sent out wireless calls for aid and it was feared crew and passengers shared the fate of fifteen of the crew of the tug Edward Luckenbach, drowned off False Cape, when the storm claimed the tug as a victim. No news of the Maurits had come early today from coast guard stations.

Barges fared worse than other vessels in the storm. Many broke away from moorings and were driven ashore. Light ships were torn from their moorings and driven before the wind, shore resorts were swept by the wind and waves and beaches were strewn with wreckage of small craft.

In shipping circles, it was feared thirteen men aboard the barge Tampico, which broke from a tug last Tuesday, were lost. Many thrilling rescues were reported. The captain and crew of six of the schooner Alice Murphy were taken from their water-logged vessel by the steamer Lenape's crew after they had been lashed to the mizzen mast for 36 hours. A small boat made the perilous trip from the Lenape to the Murphy and back again with the crew.

The Morgan, the steamer Comas, rescued the crew of the barge North-western, adrift for more than 24 hours. The crew of the schooner (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7.)

A FLARE-UP ANTICIPATED IN BALKANS

Roving Bulgars, Driven Out Of Serbia, Have Invaded Greece

BOTH COUNTRIES ARE NOW MOBILIZING TROOPS.

CARPATHIAN SITUATION

Still Remains of First Importance, and England is Confident That the Russians Will Break Through Into Hungary—Developments Thought to Be Result of German Intrigue.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 5.—The roving band of Bulgarians, driven out of Serbia, after its sudden raid had penetrated Greece at three points, according to Saloniki dispatches. The English press sees in this episode the possibility of developments which may mean a flare-up in the smoldering Balkan situation. Advises reaching London by way of Rome, however, assert that Bulgaria had agreed to give full satisfaction to Serbia. If this is true, probably the only sequel to the episode will be to draw from Bulgaria a definite statement as to the policy she purposes to pursue. All the Balkan nations, as well as Italy, are awaiting the outcome with interest.

Meanwhile, Greece is massing troops along the Bulgarian frontier and Bulgarian reservists, according to advices from Saloniki, have received orders to join the colors. In the countries allied against Germany, Austria and Turkey, these recent developments are blamed upon German intrigue.

The Carpathian front is the quarter in which a decision of first importance is expected soon. London seems to be confident that the Russians will break through into Hungary, but this has been predicted many times before.

11 FOREIGNERS ASSASSINATED IN MEXICO CITY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
San Antonio, Texas, April 5.—Eleven foreigners have been assassinated recently in the City of Mexico, according to Arthur Bullard Johnson, an attorney, representing jointly the two thousand Americans of the city and the international committee of the capital district, who passed through here last night on his way to Washington. The persons assassinated, according to the statement of the international committee counselled by the diplomatic corps, says Mr. Johnson, were an American, a Swede, three Ottomans and six Spaniards. "I carry affidavits," continued Mr. Johnson, "to the following statements: "Oregon stated at the time of the first occupation of the capital he would not recognize foreigners until foreigners recognized him, and publicly stated at the time of the second occupation that he would live to see the day when a cross would mark the place where the City of Mexico once stood."

Fifteen Lives Were Lost When Tug Was Wrecked

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, April 5.—The Luckenbach, which went ashore at False Cape, Va., during the gale Friday night, received word today from their Norfolk agents that all but two of her crew of seventeen had been lost and that the tug was a total wreck. The two men saved were washed ashore with the wreckage, one of them being lashed to a mast, it was said. Two or three barges which the tug had in tow at the time had been saved, according to the message, and the third one wrecked.

GRIFFITHS WILL TRY HARD FOR VICTORY TONIGHT

It is almost universally agreed that the lightweight who removes the championship belt from the keeping of Freddie Welsh, the Britisher, must be a boy whose cleverness exceeds that of the native of Pontypridd. No fighter of the Nelson or Wolgast type would ever stand the ghost of a show. As a defensive fighter, Welsh has few equals. When he goes into his shell he is as immune to punishment as a deep sea diver in his working togs. His cleverness is not questioned. The rushing, tearing, tireless fighters are just made for him.

The lightweight championship has changed hands twice since Ad Wolgast won in forty rounds from Battling Nelson at Port Richmond, Feb. 22, 1910. A knockout did not attend the crowning of the new champion on either occasion. On November 28, 1912, Willie Ritchie won the belt from Wolgast at Daly City, Cal., on a foul. On July 7, 1914, Freddie Welsh won from Ritchie on points.

Many experts who have watched the work of Johnny Griffiths concede him to have the best chance of any of the present crop of contenders to remove the crown from the head of unpopular Freddie. Griffiths has the youth, skill, experience combined with a sufficient amount of real fighting ability to best the champion in a bout over the marathon route.

When Griffiths was matched with Freddie Welsh in Akron February 1, many who knew Welsh for his cleverness and who had not seen the Akron boy in action since his invasion of Australia last fall, fully expected the Rubber City youth, to fall a victim of the title holder.

Instead of proving easy game for Welsh, Griffiths surprised even his warmest friends by beating Welsh at every department of the game. Griffiths left played a tattoo on Welsh's head and time after time he beat Welsh to the punch. At infighting Griffiths proved a revelation. In only one round—the seventh—did Welsh come out of his shell to mix things. He quickly withdrew when he found that Griffith could slug as well as box.

"He's the greatest boy Welsh has met since taking the title from Ritchie," Harry Pollock told Pop Griffiths at the close of the bout. "He looks to me to have the best chance with Freddie over the long route."

Welsh's battle with Griffiths was the longest, outside of his bout in London with Ritchie, since he won the title. All of his bouts since becoming leader of the division have been for ten rounds with the exception of his mix in Akron which went 12 full rounds.

Griffiths has traveled the 20 round route and he likes the marathon distance. He went 20 rounds in Sydney with Fred Kay, the cleverest of the Australian lightweights and outpointed him in 17 of the 20 rounds.

Welsh has studiously avoided a 20-round fight since winning the title. He will doubtless continue to stick to the ten round no-decision game until popular demand forced him to give one of the leading contenders a crack at his title.

Griffiths, by reason of his 12 round victory over Welsh and his 12-round victory over Joe Shugrue who beat Welsh twice in New York, should be given an opportunity to show what he can do in a battle over the longer route. If Johnny is successful in beating Johnny Harver in Columbus Monday night and Willie Ritchie in Pittsburgh the night of April 9, his manager will immediately post $5,000 to bind a match for the championship with Welsh. By defeating Ritchie, Griffith will have removed all the leading contenders who stood between him and the king of the division.

JESS WILLARD

Round Eleven. The crowd derided Johnson who was fighting and answering their sallies at the same time. Willard drove a left to the negro's mouth and took a right hook in return. Johnson smashed the cowboy with a left to the jaw. Jess blocked several to the white man's body repeating Willard by talking. The latter angrily replied in kind. Johnson tapped the giant's shoulder at the end of a slow round.

Round Thirteen. Willard's body now was red from the effects of the punishment. The negro ducked under his opponent's lead and continued to play for the stomach. Jess drove Johnson into a corner and landed straight lefts to Johnson's face. The negro jarred Willard with a left hook to the jaw. In return, he next hooked his left this blow a minute later. The champion landed right and left to the head as the bell rang.

Round Fourteen. The round opened with Willard rushing and missing a right uppercut. The challenger was the aggressor and tried to force the fighting. Johnson slammed Willard on the found the pugilists fighting in the center of the ring.

Round Fifteen. The crowd kidded Johnson who rushed Willard to the ropes and scored five hard swings, remarking: "What a grand old man." Willard grinned at the remark and also at the blows accompanying it. The bell found the pugilists fighting in the center of the ring.

Round Sixteen. Johnson missed a left to the head and they clinched. The challenger blocked the negro's rush. Amid much fighting the black man said "Willard is a good kid," and then rushed Jess to the ropes, scoring two hard punches to the body. The negro drove terrific swings to Willard's side. The challenger was a trifle unsteady in going to his corner at the end of this round.

Round Seventeen. Johnson hooked a left to his opponent's jaw and a right uppercut to the same place. Willard landed a right to Johnson's body and a left to the head. Willard scored a right to the body and blocked the negro's return. Jack drove Willard to a corner and landed two swings to the head. Johnson again hooked a right to the body and followed it up with two punches to the head.

Round Eighteen. After playing a tattoo on Willard's chest, and stomach, the negro drove Willard to a corner where the negro smashed him twice on the jaw. Willard's leads were easily picked off by the champion. After several tries, Jess landed a straight left to Johnson's face and a right swing to the jaw. At the bell Johnson landed a punch to the body and another to the jaw.

Round Nineteen. Both pugilists slowed up a bit. Willard was now the aggressor. Johnson stood in the middle of the ring and blocked Willard's blows. During the first minute not a single hard punch landed and Johnson seemed able to divine Willard's every lead. The negro then started a rally, leading two lefts to the body and a right to the jaw.

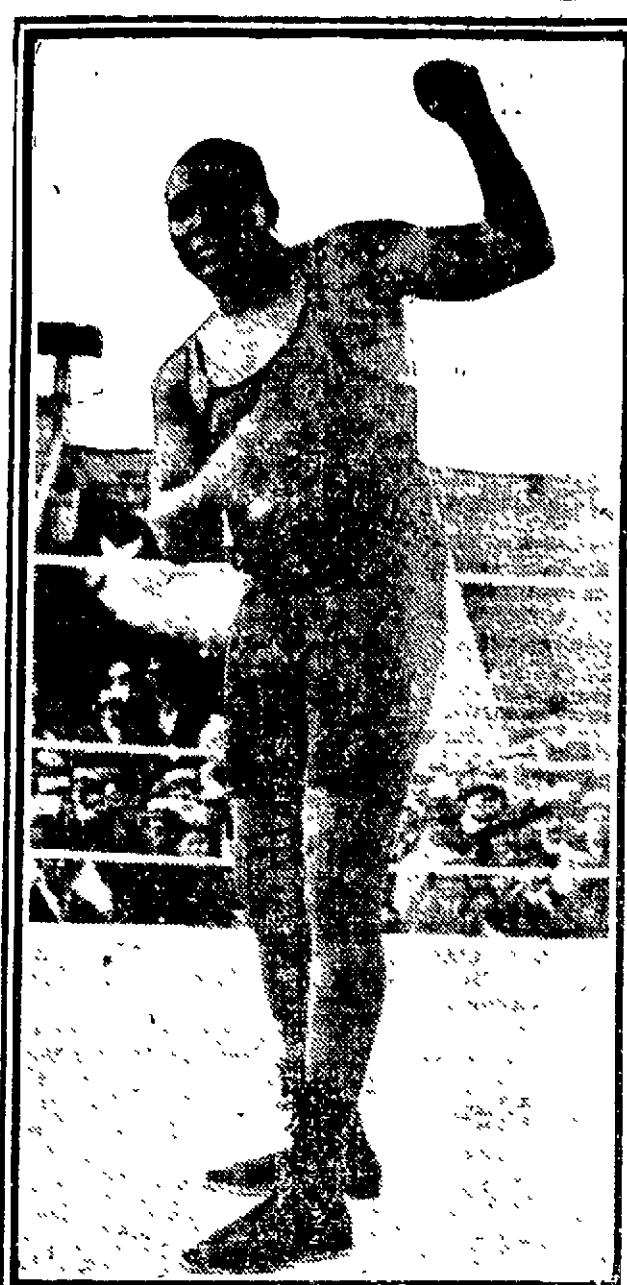

Round Twenty. Willard opened the round with two light blows to the negro's face. The latter laughed and said: "Jess lead again old kid." Willard did and smiled also. The crowd around the ringside yelled: "Hurry up, we want to see the races." Willard stabbed and paved the air until he finally landed a swing on the negro's jaw. The negro immediately cut loose and they battled across the ring. The crowd went frantic when Willard drove a smashing right and left to the negro's body at the bell.

Round Twenty-one. After a minute of posing and feinting, Johnson hooked his left to Willard's body and sent a right swing to the head. Willard replied with a straight left to the negro's face. Jack rushed but Willard protected himself well and they fell into a clinch. Johnson walked around the ring. Jess missed a right swing and they both laughed. Both were fighting for an opening at the bell.

Round Twenty-two. The fight at this point had degenerated into a slow sparring and clinching battle. Neither pugilist appeared particularly tired or injured by the blows of his opponent. Willard tried setting the pace. In a clinch he battered the negro's body with slashing rights and lefts. Johnson only grinned. Willard continued working for the negro's stomach. Jack grinned at the shrieking crowd. Nevertheless, Johnson was showing the effect of the pace.

Round Twenty-three. Willard rushed into a clinch. Johnson held on until ordered to break by the referee. The giant challenger shot two hard lefts to the negro's face. They clinched again and wrestled about the ring. Jess added two more lefts to Jack's face and clinched. Up to this point

The Loser.

JACK JOHNSON.

Negro former champion pugilist who lost the title to Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy.

Johnson had not struck a blow in the round.

Round Twenty-four. The crowd yelled to the men in the ring to fight, but instead they clinched. Willard laid his weight on Johnson at every opportunity in the clinches. Johnson pushed Willard backward in the same manner as he did Jeffries at Reno. Johnson missed two weak swings. The crowd howled with disapproval. Willard then smashed the negro with a left to the face at the bell.

Round Twenty-six. Johnson's actions might have indicated that he thought he could not knock Willard out and was trying to get the decision on points at the end of the 45 rounds. Willard shook the negro with a right to the heart. He then clipped Johnson a stinging blow on the jaw with a fast left and started forcing the pace. Johnson was conserving every hit of his energy. Willard landed a left to the mouth and then repeated it. Johnson stepped around backwards at the bell and dropped heavily into his seat.

Round Twenty-eight. Willard opened with a smash to Johnson's body. The referee forced them to break and Willard slammed a right and left to Johnson's body. In a clinch the latter looked over his shoulder to his wife's seat. Willard smashed Johnson heavily. Willard wins in twenty-sixth round.

(Associated Press Telegram) Ringside, Oriental Park, Havana, Cuba, April 5.—The sun broke through a darkly overcast sky as the crowds began to arrive at the scene of the world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Johnson, of Texas, and Jess Willard, of Kansas. The setting for the battle was picturesque. A ring had been erected directly on the race track in front of the big steel grandstand which furnished the principal seating facilities.

In front of the grandstand the long slope leading to the track was covered with seats like those of a circus. About the ring boxes were arranged set down on the flat track and more circus seats were in the field.

Buckeye League Will Have Two Seasons; A. W. Lawson Is President of the Circuit

Akron, April 5.—Two championship seasons will be conducted by the Buckeye baseball league organized at Akron Saturday afternoon at a meeting attended by representatives of clubs in Canton, Akron, Newark and Lima. Independent baseball is on the tapis.

With the start of the first campaign the middle of May and the second the middle of July, ending in September, promoters believe they have decided upon a feasible way of keeping interest at fever heat throughout the campaigns. Two clubs winning the national titles a championship series of seven games will be arranged.

Fred Paige, Penn. Yon. N. Y., resident who has been in Canton for the past week, east the vote for holdings there. A. W. Lawson, New Yorker, who will have the Akron team, was elected president of the circuit. Lawson will visit Springfield, Findlay and Marion for the purpose of selecting units for a six club league. Schedule will be adopted at the next meeting. At the Akron meeting the plan both seasons was favored, thought to provide greater variety and a more constant change.

The ring for the historic battle was 15 feet inside the ropes. The platform measured 22 feet. It was a sturdy construction, being strongly braced beneath to withstand the weight of the pugilists. Willard being the largest man who ever entered the prize ring for a championship fight.

Two hours prior to the time at which the fight was set, the ring was being actively completed. The heavy hemp ropes were wrapped twice with black tire tape. Great care was taken in preparing the floor beneath the red canvas covering, while a score of regular red blankets were placed there as padding.

There was great excitement about 11 o'clock when it was discovered that no one had thought about the bell to be rung at the starting and stopping of the rounds. Two messengers were despatched on the journey to Havana to purchase a gong.

Cuban troops began to reach the race track at half past 10 o'clock and several companies of infantry and two troops of khaki-clad cavalry being then on the scene.

At 11 o'clock the sun and clouds were still fighting for supremacy. In the sky several very dark cloud banks were hanging over the sea and offering a menace of rain.

At half past eleven o'clock, one hour before the fight was scheduled to start, a total of several thousand people had arrived and found seats, but the more expensive locations contained but few spectators.

The first nobles to reach the ringside seats were the mayor of Havana and the speaker of the Cuban house of representatives.

Mat Hinkle, of Cleveland, the alternate referee of the big fight came in a few minutes after the mayor and at once began to help with the final arrangements. By this time a number of soldiers had taken up their position around the ring enclosure. As a matter of fact soldiers at this hour seemed to constitute half of crowd.

The ring was finished shortly before noon. While the strongest, it undoubtedly was also the crudest ever erected for a world's championship fight. The band in the grandstand entertained the gathering crowds.

The first tune rendered was "By the Beautiful Sea," which set the American contingent whistling and singing. Late arrivals at the arena told of many automobile wrecks along the narrow and much-crowded road from Havana, but up to noon there had been no serious accident.

There was a liberal percentage of women among the spectators. Most of them occupied box seats and many of them were Americans.

No big betting was reported at the ringside but the betting machines were quite liberally patronized in amounts from two to ten dollars, the players picking the winner and the round.

Before the ring was completed, the gong had arrived and was placed in position.

Bob Vernon, official stakeholder and timer for the fight, took his place at the ringside at noon. Otto Photo, timer for Willard and Sam Bennett, timer for Johnson, sat on either side of Vernon.

President Menocal, of Cuba, arrived a few minutes after noon and took a seat in a box in front of the grandstand about 100 feet from the ring. He was preceded by the commanding officers of the Cuban army and the Cuban navy.

At that hour the crowd was pouring in rapidly and finding seats with comparatively little confusion. The Cubans showed much excitement even in anticipation.

At twenty minutes past 12 it was apparent that the fight would not start on time, and might not begin until one o'clock (about 12:30 Central Ohio time).

Johnson arrived at the race track at 12:25, but did not appear until later. His wife came to the ringside accompanied by Tom Flanagan, who has been acting for Johnson.

At 12:30 Announcer Jim Mace, exhibited Johnson's receipt for $29,000, the balance due him on the purse and the meaning of which papers explained to the crowd in Spanish and English.

The sun was shining brightly at 12:40 and jockeys were then exercising their horses in the back stretch in anticipation of the races late this afternoon.

At 1 o'clock neither of the fighters had appeared in the ring. Johnson is on the way to the ring.

Johnson entered the ring at 1:15 p. m.

At 1:11 (1:40 New York time) Johnson made his appearance, being applauded by the enthusiastic Cubans, one minute later he crawled through the ropes clad in a gray bathrobe and wearing his usual golden smile. The negro's first move was to ascertain where his wife was located.

Four minutes later prolonged yelling and cheering announced the appearance of Willard. The crowd went wild over the young fight giant, screaming and handclapping as he crawled through the ropes.

Willard wore a heavy red sweater, blue trousers and black sombrero. Willard entered the ring at 1:20 p. m.

The attendance is estimated at about 15,000. Only a few of the $20 seats were still vacant. The sun began to beat down hotly and all danger of rain seems past.

In the challenger's corner were the following seconds: Tex O'Rourke, Jim Savage, Walter Monahan.

Johnson, seconded by Tom Flanagan, George Munroe, Sam McVey, Dave Mills and Bob Armstrong and Calvin Bell.

The two pugilists shook hands for the movies. The ring was gradually cleared of all except referee Jack Welsh, seconds and principals.

Johnson objected to a woman spectator in the press ringside stand and she retired to an adjacent box. The negro, stripping bathrobe showed, clad in bright blue trunks and no belt. Willard wore dark blue trunks and an American flag as a belt.

The seconds from both quarters carefully inspected the adjustment of gloves of both the fighters.

Both pugilists were gathered in on the scales in the ring. Willard's weight was 238; Johnson's 225. The negro appeared considerably heavier.

At 1:23 the ring was ordered cleared. The pugilists then shook hands, and time was called, and round one began.

SKILL AND STRENGTH WERE MATCHED AGAINST YOUTH AND ENDURANCE.

(Associated Press Telegram) Havana, Cuba, April 5.—Although Johnson and Willard were not to meet till 12:30 o'clock this afternoon for the heavyweight championship of the world, the early hours of the forenoon saw thousands on the way to the Mariano race course where the fight was to be staged.

Neither the black champion nor the cowboy fighter changed over night their optimistic forecast of the outcome. Each man was sure he would win. Johnson said he was in good shape and did not care if the fight was a hard one, as he was "fit to go any distance." Willard's backers were certain that their man would win if the fight went beyond ten rounds. Willard himself asserted that he was not in the least nervous over the result.

It was the old story of skill and strength against youth and strength. With the betting odds 6 to 5 on Johnson's skill, Johnson, one of the largest men who ever stepped into a prize ring, faced an opponent measurably larger and ten years younger than himself.

The champion is 38 years old. Willard is 28, weighs normally twenty pounds more than Johnson and tops him five and one-half inches, being six feet, six inches tall. Never in the history of the prize ring have two such giants been brought together before.

The scene of the fight was the Havana race course, ten miles from the city. Thousands made their way to the track hours before the time set for the opening of the encounter. Tickets to the amount of $80,000 had been sold in advance, but the $3 seats were to be sold at the turnstiles at the four gates today. Sunrise found men waiting in line. Some of them had been there all night. Forty-five rounds was the scheduled length of the fight, but few of the thousands who gathered entertained even a passing belief that it would go that long. That would mean three hours of fighting, allowing for the one minute rest between rounds.

CROWDS ON HAND EARLY FROM ALL DIRECTIONS, INCLUDING EVERY CLASS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Havana, April 5.—The crowd began to gather with the sunrise. They came from everywhere. The hotels emptied after an early breakfast, most of them were filled with Americans who had been here several days in anticipation of the big event. The last boats from Key West brought many others. From the interior of the island came men of all stations, from wealthy planters to natives who stood in line for the $3 seats.

Before daybreak crowds of natives, secure in the belief and hope that Johnson would retain his laurels, began pouring into the city. The streets were filled with a motley throng and the training quarters of the pugilists were the center of admiration through the hours before the two giants stepped into the ring the stands were black with spectators.

They went to the track by automobile, by trolley, in every available vehicle in Havana and on foot. President Menocal and his cabinet, the congress of Cuba, the governor of Havana province, the mayor of the city, foreign ministers and hundreds of women were in the audience. The electric lines were unable to handle the crowds and many walked the ten miles from Havana.

JOHNSON GOT $30,000. HIS SHARE, WIN OR LOSE; WILLARD, 25 PER CENT.

(Associated Press Telegram) Havana, April 5.—The promoters went during the morning to Johnson's headquarters to pay him the $30,000 which he was to receive as his share of the gate receipts, win or lose. Under the agreement, Johnson was to receive also one-third in the moving picture privilege. Willard's share was 25 per cent of the total receipts and one-third interest in the moving pictures.

BOTH WERE CONFIDENT OF VICTORY DURING THE MORNING HOURS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Havana, April 5.—Jess Willard popped out of bed with the rising sun this morning and after a light army stretching exercise, partook of his breakfast. He then prepared himself for a short turn on the road, after which he said he would "loaf" until time to go to the ring.

"I am fit," said Willard, to a crowd of admirers who came over to his training quarters to look the cowboy giant over. "Why shouldn't I be ready? I have worked hard for several weeks and am down to my proper ring weight of 245 pounds. I have left just enough fat on me to burn off during the fight. I have studied Johnson's style, understand his methods, and have planned my ring campaign accordingly. I expect the fight to run about 15 rounds at least. Johnson's condition will enable him to carry a fast pace for that distance. Then the strain will tell and I will push him to the limit."

Jack Johnson smiled his famous golden smile at his headquarters (his morning while he idled the time before the fight. The black champion took a stroll before breakfast, but beyond that did nothing in the line of exercise. Johnson is undoubtedly over his best ring weight and though he said he would enter the ring at 225, he appeared to be several pounds heavier.

"I'll be right there all the way," laughed Johnson this morning.

"I know when I have reached my best condition. All this talk of my having lost my punching ability is nonsense. Just you ask my sparring partners. They will tell you. As to Willard, I know he is a strong boy, but you know what Old Bob Fitzsimmons once said: 'The bigger they are, the harder they fall.' I'll get him with a series of blows that will put him under before many rounds have been run off. I just love that championship and I am not going to lose it."

HAVANA STIRRED BY BATTLE MORE THAN EVER BEFORE.

(Associated Press Telegram) Havana, April 5.—When the sun rose, it was behind a solid bank of clouds but as the day advanced blue patches of sky appeared here and there bringing hope of fine weather to the fighters, to the fight promoters and to the thousands of men who had journeyed to Havana to witness the big battle.

Havana has been stirred by this event more than by any other thing in recent years and dawn found the city fully awake to the unusual occurrence of the day. The downtown fight headquarters were crowded with ticket buyers and the morning saw the arrival in Havana of wealthy Cubans from all over the island.

Johnson prepared coolly to defend his title. His only indications of nervousness was over the exact moment Jack Curley and other backers of the fight would arrive at his headquarters with the $30,000 cash named in the negro's contract as signed in Paris. This very important event was set for 11 o'clock. Johnson chatted and laughed with the men about him during his preparations for the trip to the ring as if he had not a care in the world. His supreme self-confidence is rated as one of the champion's best assets, especially against a man of nervous temperament.

Willard retired early last night and declared this morning he had had a refreshing sleep. He said he was glad the day of the fight had arrived, as he had been training nearly nine weeks, first having got in condition to fight at Juarez, Mar. 6th.

It was apparent that Willard was loath to discuss his plan of campaign. He did say, however, that he proposed to go slow and that he expected to take a good deal of punishment during the first ten rounds, hoping to wear Johnson down and get an opportunity to land a knockout blow.

Willard was confident that if he could land two or three rights on Johnson, the fight soon would end. Willard said Johnson's ability as a boxer would give him opportunity to make a better showing in the early (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4.)

The fury of the storm lashed as it moved up the coast. Ten men were lost off the Delaware Capes when the tug Cumberland lost barges it was towing and as far north as the Massachusetts coast came reports of heavy shipping damage.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense on both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Normal School Girls Help In "Swat the Fly" Campaign

SIXTEEN normal school girls of Cleveland registered as neophyte fly swatters and received the first degree of the order. They were taken on a tour of the alleys behind the Central market by Dr. Jean Dawson, fly swatter in chief.

The young women were carefully instructed in the most approved methods of stalking the insect, and many dresses and white shoes were muddled and soiled.

Then they were assigned in pairs to investigate districts designated by Dr. Dawson. They did not enter houses, confining their efforts to back yards and alleys. It was on their reports that wagons were sent out to collect refuse, a number of the city's waste paper wagons having been assigned to haul the rubbish.

LOVING WIFE SLAIN BY FRENCH CAVALRY OFFICER BECAUSE SHE FOLLOWED ARMY.

In Order to be Near Him—Court-martial Will Try Case of Captain Heral.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, April 5.—Captain Heral, an officer in the French cavalry, will be tried by court-martial Saturday for killing his wife at Compiègne because she persisted in following the army to be near him, in direct violation of orders issued by the military authorities. For some time after the crime Heral was a mental and physical wreck. It was feared that he would not survive but he recently recovered and was turned over to the military police by the hospital authorities. He will be defended by Henri Robert.

After Captain Heral was sent to the front his wife, to whom he was deeply attached, learned that he was stationed at Compiègne and followed him there. This was at the time when the general chief issued a circular prohibiting all officers and soldiers from receiving their wives during the campaign. His superior officer remonstrated with Captain Heral and he tried to induce his wife to leave, but she continued to postpone her departure. A second warning was given the captain with no better result. When a third warning came he was told he would be cashiered unless Mme. Heral left at once. This she refused to do and the cavalry officer, fearing dishonor and degradation, shot the woman he loved.

Prize Fighting.

The story of the big Johnson-Willard fight at Havana will be read by many millions of people tonight. It is a battle of science against science. People with a liking for sporting competitions are interested to hear about it as a contest of wits and strategy.

While that remains true, the general sentiment of the country is against prize fighting. There are few localities within our states where such a contest can be legally held, still fewer where it would not encounter earnest protest.

The reason for this feeling is no doubt that the American people are chiefly interested in contests of pure skill. The normal mind likes to see sporting competitions in which the physical strain is not pushed to the limit of endurance. The supremacy of baseball is due to the fact that head work and science are encouraged to the limit. The player is not asked to suffer physical pain, and endure punishment to the point of collapse.

If a battered bruiser is to endure to the 45th round, it becomes too much a question of flesh against flesh. The mental element is subordinated to mere beef.

Extermination of Pests.

The government and the states pile millions on millions in pursuit of the boll weevil, gypsy and other moths, San Jose and other scales, grasshoppers, beetles, caterpillars, flies, etc. Yet the damage to crops in this country from insect pests is placed at $800,000,000 annually.

In the long run these enemies of the food supply will be fought successfully only by introducing parasites, the natural foes of these insects. But that requires years for scientific investigation and experiment.

For some reason or other pests seem far more numerous than they were years ago. The killing off of birds is probably the principal cause. Yet this may not be the only reason. In these days when so much money is being spent by government agencies for pest suppression, does the individual farmer feel the responsibility for cleaning them off his own land? Or does he sit back and let the state and national agricultural departments do the work for him?

The old time farmer fought pests with a good deal of diligence. Years ago a plague of canker worms swept over the apple growing parts of the country. Many people will recall the care with which farmers in the sections affected used to smear belts of sticky substances around the base of their trees to trap the worms. Thus many orchards were saved, and after a few years the plague subsided. Government agencies need all the help the individual land owner can give in these efforts.

In sections now afflicted with the caterpillar and certain other insects, granges and other farmer's organizations are doing a useful work in enlisting the children to fight them. Many varieties of pests can be kept down by destroying their nests. The individual farmer may

The Reville.

This is not an advertisement but merely an expression of philanthropic desire that a good thing should not shed its effulgent light in the circumscribed area of a bushel measure.

We are referring, friends, to the Newark High School Reville. It is an excellent little publication, though the proof-reader is not always able to battle successfully with the inspired intemperance. However, one can hardly regret that this got by the censor "if as many" ancestors came over in the Mayflower as people claim, that poor BRAT would never have reached Plymouth Rock.

It seems that schoolmasters are still inflicting unreasonable questions upon defenseless youth, just as they did in sadly remembered years gone by. But see how Wendell handled the situation.

Teacher: "Why was Washington Irving a bachelor?"

Wendell: "Because his wife died."

Wendell doubtless resented the morbid curiosity that sought to lay bare the innermost sanctities of the life of a member of his sex, and took this subtle method of expressing his disapproval.

Ernest, too, touched upon one of the fundamentals when he took part in the following colloquy:

Teacher: "Give several causes for the downfall of Rome."

Ernest: "There were too many different sexes in Carthage when Rome captured it."

You are doubtless right, Ernest. It seems sometimes as though there were too many different sexes in America. A lot of trouble would be saved if there were not so many.

Robert also had a little chat with his teacher which the Reville records:

Teacher: "Robert, who were the Cyclops?"

Robert: "They were the people who made the first cyclopedia."

It sounds so plausible that it would probably have deceived anyone but a teacher. But it is to be feared that Robert didn't score on this as he really deserved.

The jitneys are now here in earnest and seem to be doing a good business. REIGN OF MUD.

The weather was a thing of dread, week after week; all men complained the clouds were always overhead, and every other hour it rained. Then ducks and alligators laughed at the building raised a cheerful sound; the rural postman, on a raft, still tried to make his weary round. There was no bottom to the road; a muddy stream, it struck the eye; six horses scarce could pull a load.

That one would pull when it was dry, I heard the dismal farmers croak. "We're ruined if this thing keeps on; already we are nearly broke—the profits of a year are gone." I tried to show that endless rain was what the country needed most, I talked in optimistic strain, the while I leaned against a post. "This is no time for sunshine talk," the farmers said; "it's vain, indeed, while we must watch our starving stock, because we cannot haul in feed. If you turn loose a joyous flood of language, while our hearts are sore, we'll push you head-first in the mud, and you will dance and sing no more." And that's the luck I always have, when up against colossal grief; my sunny words don't seem a salve, my chortling does not bring relief.

NO CHANGE IN SITUATION IN DARDANELLES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Berlin, April 5.—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—Included in the reports given out today by the Overseas News Agency is the following:

"Dispatches received in Berlin from Constantinople say there has been no change in the Dardanelles situation.

"The Russian fleet, after its operations before the Bosphorus under took March 30, a further attack on Eregh, a Black Sea port in Asia Minor. A total of 2000 shots were fired. Nine barges in the port were sunk and four houses on shore were damaged. There were no casualties and coal is coming from Eregh as usual. A Russian aviator was driven off by fire from the shore.

"The Russian fleet retired at noon. A message received here from Athens estimates at over 30,000 the number of Anglo-French troops which have been landed on the island of Lemnos, near the entrance to the Dardanelles.

"An article appearing in the Tamm of Constantinople expresses the idea that in so much as the English will not be able to reach Constantinople before the Russians get there, the former intend to occupy the islands at the entrance to the Dardanelles position from which it would be possible to checkmate Russian in the future.

Obituary

Mrs. William Cook.

Mrs. Margaret Cook, wife of William Cook of Mt. Sterling, and sister-in-law of M. S. Cook of the Arcade building died Saturday morning at her home at Mt. Sterling of cancer. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Mt. Sterling.

Joseph Johnson.

Joseph Johnson, aged 64, formerly of Newark, was found dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ward Smith three miles south of Plainfield, Chester County, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by a neighbor. Mr. Johnson had been at home alone since morning, his sister having driven to Chester to do some shopping. He was thought to have been caused by hemorrhages from which he had suffered before.

Joseph Johnson was a widely known and prominent citizen of the Plainfield neighborhood and had made his home with his sister for many years. His wife died thirteen years ago at her home in Newark, at two grown daughters, Lottie, who is married, and Maude, single also reside here. Three sisters, Mrs. Smith, with whom he lived; Mrs. Walter Holler, of Newark; and Mrs. Ella Riney, of Pawtucket, R. I., survive. A brother, H. M. Johnson, resides near the late home.

Funeral and burial took place Monday.

Gilbert Rector.

Gilbert Rector, 8 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rector died at the home of Edward Wickham of Black Hand, Sunday evening at 4 o'clock, after a two weeks' illness of acute indigestion. The funeral will be held at the Hanover church, Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Mitchell will officiate.

James Dupler, 68 year old, well known resident of Newark, died suddenly morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Francis Hospital, Columbus, where he has been a patient since last Monday. Mr. Dupler was returning from a visit to Danville, Ill., when he was taken ill on the train.

At Columbus he was removed to the hospital. Thinking he was improving each day, he sent no word to his people here and they were not aware that he was in the hospital. His condition took a sudden change for the worse Sunday and he died unexpectedly.

Mr. Dupler was born at Somerset, O., Jan. 8, 1847 and came to Newark 18 years ago.

He is survived by his widow and eight children. They are Thomas Dupler, Mrs. Maggie Embrey, Mrs. Amy Embrey, Miss Anna Dupler, Mrs. Josephine Jordan, Mrs. Bell Henry, and Mrs. Nellie McKenna all of Newark and Mrs. Milla Beadle, who lives in California.

The body was brought to Newark Sunday evening. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the home Thomas Dupler, 58 Franklin avenue.

JAIL DELIVERY IS FRUSTRATED LATE SATURDAY

What might have been a jail delivery was frustrated by Deputy Sheriff Frank Brown late Saturday when he became suspicious of one of the prisoners and going into his cell searched him with the result that he found five saws concealed in the lining of the prisoner's coat. Deputy Brown had previously found four saws in the cell occupied by the prisoner. In all probability they had been brought in by the prisoner when he was jailed and he had successfully concealed them. It is not thought that he had any accomplices on the outside.

Damage Case.

Ray Martin, as attorney for the plaintiff, filed a petition in the case of Arthur B. Hampshire vs. the County Commissioners for damages caused by change of grade of the Newark & Zanesville Pike, east of town.

The petition alleges that in the construction of the Pike the defendants cause the pike to be raised in front of plaintiffs dwelling and store building to his damage in the sum of $1,500. The extent of pike building in the county makes it a very interesting case for the county.

$10,000 Damage Suit.

Lena Rutherford has filed a suit against her husband, John W. Rutherford, in which she asks $10,000 damages for causing her imprisonment for twelve hours on a charge which he preferred before Mayor Bigbee charging her with being intimate with a male acquaintance.

Granted Divorce.

Helen G. Ferry was granted a divorce in probate court Monday morning from Thomas J. Ferry on the usual statutory grounds.

"Buy the Goods--- Not the Package"

Advises Hon. Geo. W. Perkins, Chairman of New York's Food Committee.

And it's good advice! Select the food that contains the greatest nutrition for the least money, whether in ornately colored package or in a plain carton.

The Grape-Nuts package isn't pretty—no money is wasted upon ornament—but it's airtight and germ-proof, to protect the food and keep it in perfect condition.

In Milady's Boudoir

BY GWEN BEARS.

I am giving a complete and particularly good facial massage that can be practiced at home without difficulty or injurious effects. A kneading or circular movement should begin at the chin and so dancing up toward the eyes, also from the center of the forehead out toward the temples.

If only this one motion is used the firmness imparted to the tissues and the stimulation directed toward the glands and pores will be of wonderful benefit. After the circular friction from the center of the forehead out to the temples, place the four fingers of either hand back to back and rub alternately up and down, going from one side of the forehead to the other.

As one set of fingers sweeps upward the other set goes down, and both go across. This gives the flesh a sort of ironing out, treating the lines crosswise. See to it that plenty of skin food is applied.

It will be constantly absorbed and if the beautifying is continued for any length of time the cosmetic pot must contribute generously of its contents. Another movement is to place the first three fingers, between the eyebrows and to spread them as you move upward toward the hair line.

Anything that frictions the skin without pushing it into new lines is beneficial. The flesh glows afterward, showing that the blood vessels are busy. It is important that the muscles be wholly relaxed during massage. Small lines running like accordion plaits between the eyes must be given the circular kneading with the first or second finger.

Place the first finger of the left hand directly between the eyebrows and keep stationary. Place the first finger of the right hand flat across the top of the lines and move briskly back and forth; afterward rub with both hands, going forward and away at the same time; follow with upward smoothing and crosswise friction.

The tissues about the eyes are particularly soft and delicate, and even if a woman hasn't time for massage she should plaster that part of her face thickly every night with skin food, which provides a certain nutriment for the soft flesh which falls away easily.

Place the first finger of the right hand on the eyelid close to the nose sweep outward just beyond the eye and come back underneath to starting point. Beginning with the circular, kneading motion working from the lower end of the line to the upper place thumb at the base of the line and smooth gently with the first finger, bringing the flesh out in a fold.

Your Boys and Girls

In the matter of the daily dressing of the hair mothers have no end of little girl coiffures from which to choose. For the child with perfectly straight locks the Russian style, cut short and bobbing around the ears and neck, has long been a general favorite. Practical and comfortable as it unquestionably is the one objection to it is the extremely boyish look which it gives.

The latter is relieved somewhat by a slight pompadour effected by parting the hair on either side of the head at the front and tying the intervening

Howe's Travel Pictures.

The great vogue and popularity of Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Auditorium on Wednesday, April 7, is due to the fact that the public has become more and more discriminating in the photographic quality of films as well as the subject matter. This same public realizes that in these respects Mr. Howe's exhibition meets the demands of the most critical and exacting and that it can always be depended upon to surpass the most sanguine expectations.

In his entirely new program Mr. Howe promises one of the most delightful picture journeys he has ever presented. It will take local "Howe travelers" to Venice—the city of the sea. The series is unique—because Venice is unique. All other cities in the world resemble each other in many respects, but Venice alone remains distinctive—a city of romance where poetry conquers prose. And it is exactly this poetic beauty of Venice that Howe's film conveys exquisitely. Of course, the new program includes numerous other noteworthy features such as a descent into the crater of Vesuvius where spectators peer down into a vast abyss of boiling lava. Then there is a thrilling ride on a runaway train. This, too, is a descent, but at an appalling rate of speed down the mountain side and around curves—the train increasing in momentum at every foot until spectators are transfixed in suspense as to just how such an eventful trip will end. The mysterious development of flowers; the grace and beauty of nature's handiwork during the growth of plants; the fascinating formations caused by the electrolysis of metals; and a railroad ride through Greece are only a few of the many other features to be presented. In addition there will be those amusing, clever animated cartoons which always form such a pleasant diversion. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Denison Glee Club Concert.

Newark music lovers and people interested in Denison university will be delighted to know that arrangements have been made for a concert here by the Denison Glee Club on Wednesday, April 14. Concerts have been given here in former years by this club and have without exception pleased large audiences. The glee club, like the football and basketball teams, is much better this season. G. B. Athey and R. H. Williams, the soloists, have appeared at several Newark churches, and are well known and liked in this city. The club is under the direction of Karl Eschman, the well known pianist and director of the Denison conservatory of music. The program is large and varied and includes some selections not often given by a college glee club. The concert will be given at the high school auditorium and a large audience is expected.

Sousa's Band in Columbus.

One of the few remaining musical events of the current season which will justify a visit to Columbus by people of this community is that of Sousa's Band which will be heard at the Memorial Hall, Saturday, April 17 for matinee and night performance. This band is now enroute to the San Francisco exposition and is making but two or three stops in Ohio.

Probably the only music that rivals "Tipperary" in popularity among the nations engaged in the European war is the march music of John Philip Sousa.

Sousa's marches long have been favorites with military bands but they have even come into more prominence recently because of the inspiring effect the patriotic compositions have on troops especially when they have spent weary hours in the trenches or have been fagged by days of siege service.

Miss Antiquette—"Yes, when I heard it I could scarcely trust my ears." Miss Caustique—"I should think they were quite old enough to be trusted."

Slobbs—"Does Scribbler ever display any of the eccentricities or genius?" Slobbs—"Yes, he occasionally pays back some of the money he borrows."

3 Killed With Cleavers; Burglars Commit Awful Crime In a Restaurant

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, April 5.—Otto Zinn, a restaurant keeper and two of his employees, a porter and a cook, were killed early today in Zinn's restaurant, supposedly by burglars. Zinn and his wife, who slept over the restaurant, were awakened by a crash down stairs and the proprietor went down to investigate. When he failed to return his wife called a policeman, who found the restaurant keeper and his two employees dead in the cellar.

In the cellar was found also a safe which had been moved from a place on the floor above and evidently thrown downstairs. It had not been broken open.

Beside the dead men lay three bloody cleavers with which the burglars had battered in their victims' heads. The police also found a revolver and a set of burglar tools.

There was evidence that the men who committed the crime had searched themselves in the cellar after eating a meal in the restaurant. At first they had tried to cut through the floor under the safe and failed in this attempt by a large beam. They had gone upstairs after the place closed and rolled the safe into the cellar. The porter and the cook had been surprised and killed when they came down to get coal. The proprietor apparently had surprised the thieves at work trying to open the safe.

The two employees were Roman Held, porter, and Stephen Bovorisky, cook.

RAILROADS WILL KEEP UP FIGHT FOR THEIR RELIEF

Authoritative announcement is made that the railroads will not abandon their present effort to secure further revenues from the passenger department, whatever action is taken by the present Ohio legislature. Those high in the councils of the railroads are authority for the statement that their distinct lines of action are in contemplation, aside from the effort to secure relief through the state legislature. The first of these is introducing the referendum. Railroad officials are convinced that their campaign of education has had a tremendous effect and that this effect is being widened daily.

The second method considered is through the courts of the state to the United States Supreme court, which has recently declared a similar law in West Virginia confiscatory. Attorneys for the railroads of Ohio are a unit in the belief that similar relief would be afforded to Ohio by the highest tribunal in the United States. The third form of activity considered is to make the matter a direct issue at the polls in 1916, by a non-partisan campaign for the election of members to the legislature pledged to give relief to the present conditions which the railroads say are steadily forcing one line after another into the hands of receivers.

Railroad organization in Ohio embraces more than 100,000 men and in addition many large concerns have tacitly pledged their support to such a campaign in the event that the railroads elect to try their cause at the ballot box. The desire of the railroads to get relief through channels other than the courts is that such relief will make it easier to borrow money without which accommodation, many needed improvements in the railroads of Ohio cannot be made.

Granville

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, April 5.—Easter Sunday, the only perfect day of this belated Springtide, was fittingly yesterday observed in all the Granville churches. Many palms, lilies and other blossoms symbolic of the season, were used in decorating the various churches, and the services were enriched by unusually fine music. In the Methodist church, Miss Allier, Chrysler with her choir rendered a fine musical program; in the Presbyterian church, Mrs. Jacob Rohrer, soprano, with a violin obligato by Miss Josephine Darrow, sang a beautiful Easter selection; in St. Luke's Episcopal church the vested choir rendered appropriate music, and in the Baptist church, the only one your correspondent was privileged to attend, two of the most beautiful and affecting services of the entire year, were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Millard Brelsford. The ordinance of baptism was administered both morning and evening, followed in each instance by a delightful program of Easter music. Mrs. Darrow, at the organ, again proved herself more than adequate to the demands of the occasion.

playing in faultless style the six solo numbers and accompanying the fine vocal selections, used for the two services. Miss Howland sang the solo parts in the anthems: Mr. Walter Livingston a bass solo, "The Wondrous Victory"; Mrs. Marion Rose Johnson, with violin obligato by Mr. Einfeld, rendered "Easter Dawn." In the evening the choir sang "Christ Has Won the Victory," and Miss Laura Lowe the offertory solo, "He is Risen! He is Risen!"

The general meeting in the Methodist church yesterday afternoon at half past two o'clock, was well attended, and much interest was manifested in the talks by Messrs. Cook, Starr and Holycross of the Columbus Tabernacle Workers' League, especially in his life story as told by Mr. Starr the German evangelist.

Charles Elmer Goodell, A. M., professor of Political Science in Denison University, and Dean of the Summer School, has issued an announcement of the fourth session of the Denison Summer School, which will begin on June 21 and close on July 30. This bulletin while comprehensive in scope, is most artistic in design and workmanship, and shows the painstaking care for detail which characterizes all of Prof. Goodell's methods. Nine new members will be added to the Summer school faculty, which this year will number twenty-two. The booklet setting forth the aims and purposes of the summer school, contains several beautiful views of the college grounds, as well as information concerning the departments, the instructors, the equipment, expenses, terms of admission, etc. There will be offered this year, five distinct classes of courses, calculated to meet the needs of as many different classes of students.

1. Courses for review of the common branches, designed not only for those who need to prepare for examinations, but also for those who need strengthening in the fundamentals of the various subjects.

2. Courses especially adapted to the needs of primary teachers. These will include practice teaching and observation, and classes in primary methods, besides the general courses in education.

3. Courses for teachers of Agriculture and Domestic Science.

4. Courses for College Credit, looking toward an academic degree.

Prof. Goodell is one of the foremost educators of the day, and will maintain the high standard for the summer school which he has helped to establish for Denison. Any one interested in securing a summer term would do well to write for a bulletin.

There will be a meeting of the leaders of the Woman's Missionary Organization of the Baptist church at the home of Miss Mary McKibben in West Elm street tonight at 7 o'clock.

On account of the annual meeting of the Granville Public Library Association tonight, the business of the Spencer Bible class will be postponed one month.

Prof. Theodore Johnson left this morning for Marietta to attend the funeral of his uncle, Mr. E. H. Johnson of that place.

Miss Ella Howe, who has spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Howe, returned today to Columbus.

Miss Margaret Watkin of Columbus spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Julia Watkin on Center-ville street.

Miss Mildred Hunt, who has spent the vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Hunt in Park Drive, has returned to her school duties in Hillsboro, O.

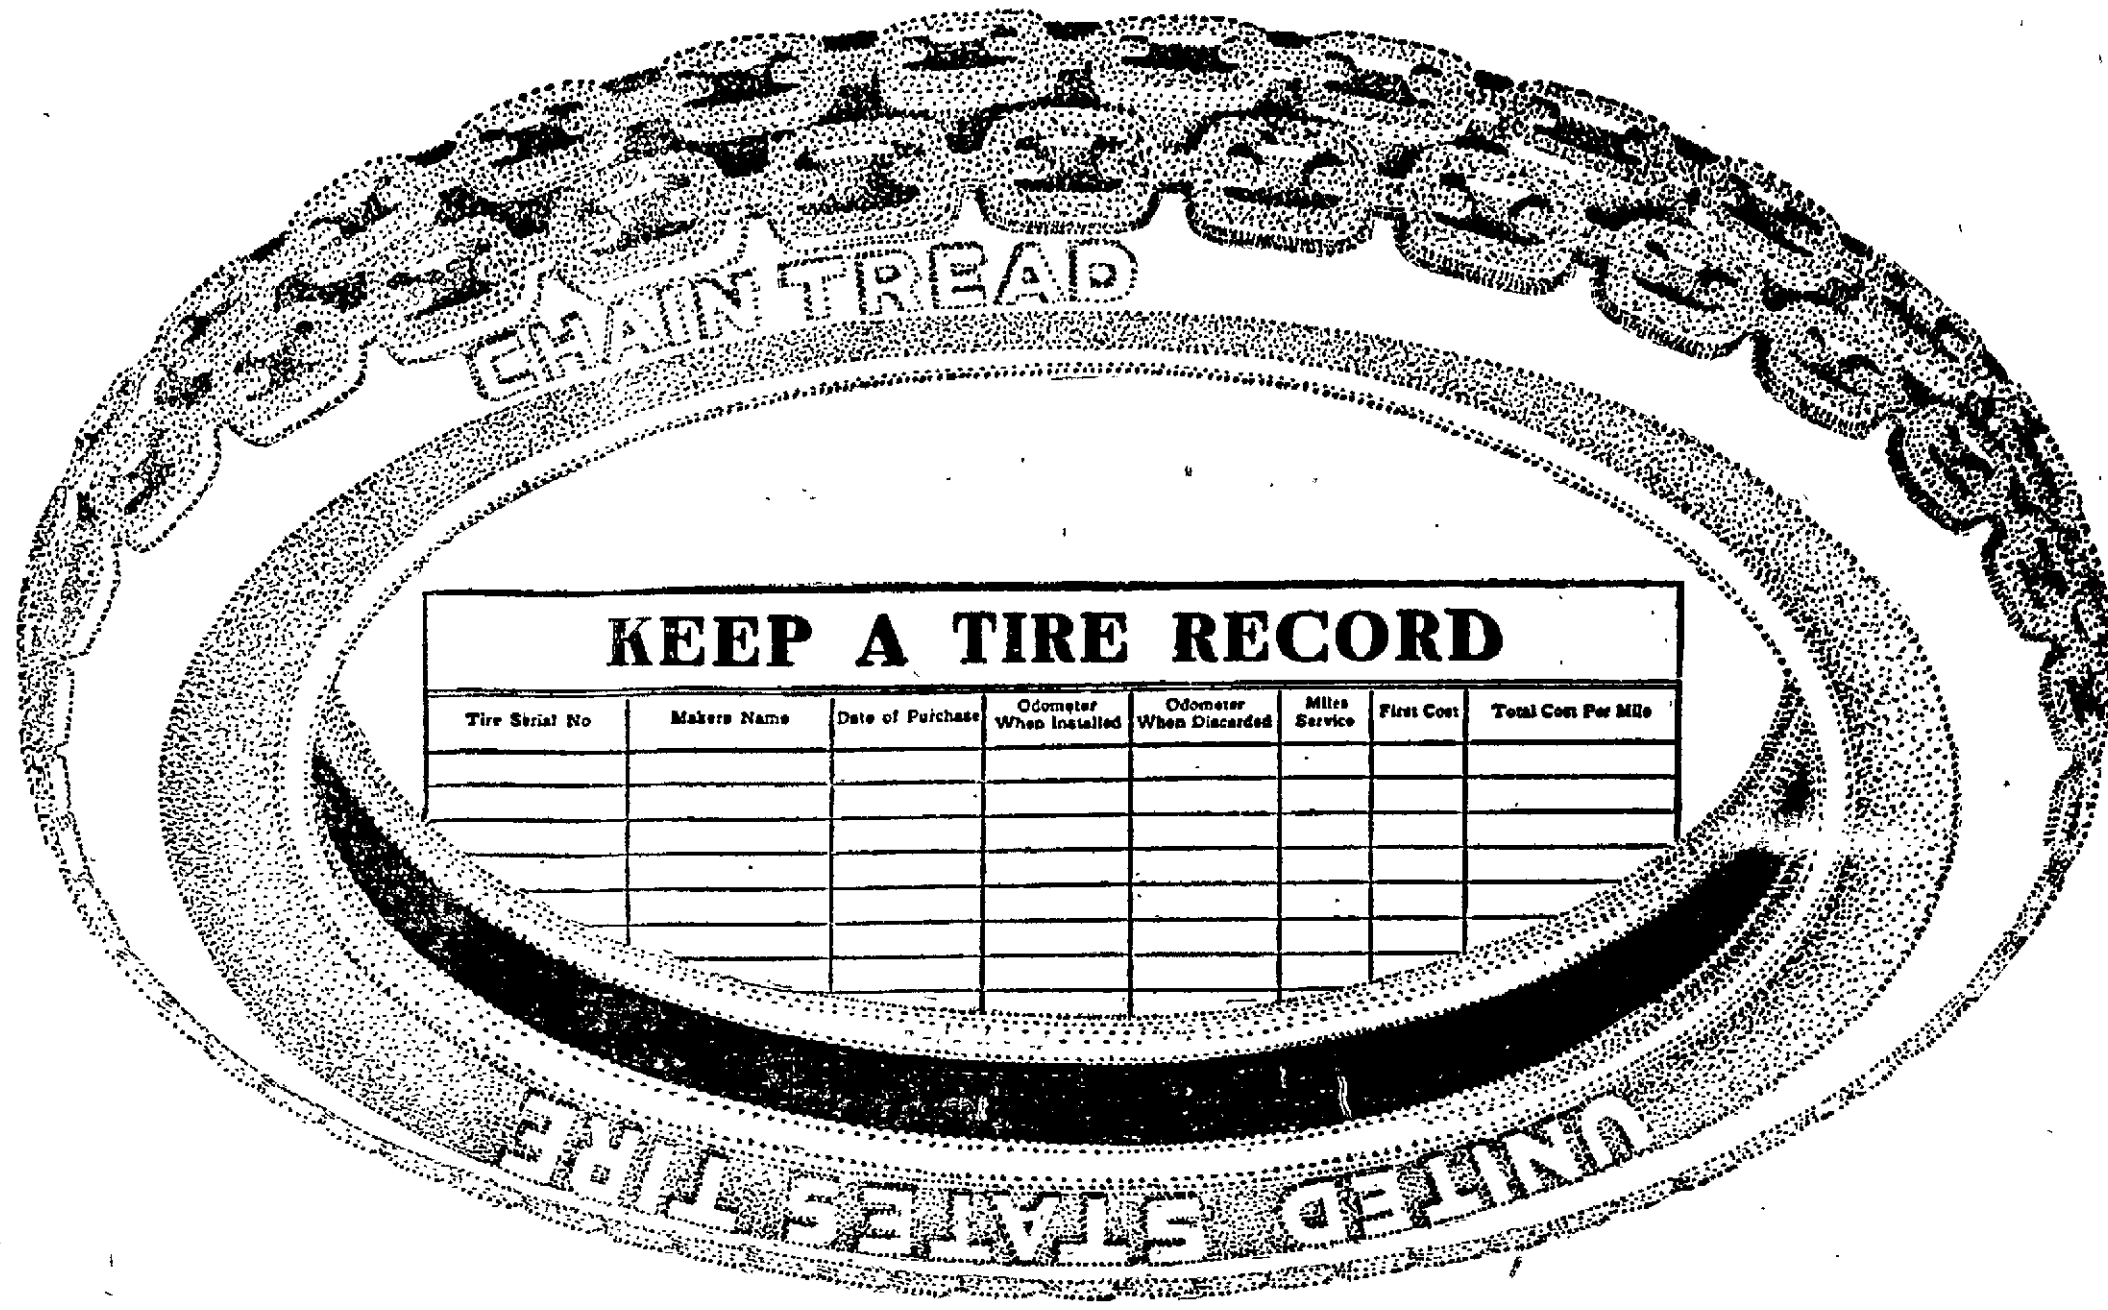

Miss M. E. Penney spent the week-end with Newark relatives and friends.

Mr. William Black has received news that his brother, Mr. Joseph Black, well known to Granville people, is lying seriously ill at a hospital in Bridgeport, Conn.

Cityless City Can Be Made a Reality

ALTHOUGH the term "cityless city" generally has been used in a contemptuous sense, with no one considering seriously the possibility of a community being entirely rid of the insects, health authorities all over the country are beginning to believe that such a condition may be brought about in a city or town where everybody engages in stinging or stinging the pest. One of the cities which have conducted a vicious warfare on the fly for several seasons is Cleveland. Health officials there have issued a bulletin in which they say that Cleveland will be entirely free from flies as soon as every citizen agrees that his premises are maintained in a sanitary condition, that his garbage can is kept constantly covered, that his house is properly screened and that other simple suggestions for eradicating the fly are carried out.

HINES DIES WHILE ALONE IN HIS ROOM

K. K. Hines, 50 years old, who formerly lived at Uhrichville, was found dead in his room in the tenant house on the farm of Edward Stuart, two miles west of Newark on the Hebron road, Sunday afternoon. Mr.
Stuart found the body after visiting the farm and finding that the stock had not been fed and watered. Mr.
Hines' body was lying across the bed where he fell after suffering a hemorrhage of the lungs during the night.
The man had visited Newark during the evening and left for his home on the last car, feeling as well as usual according to friends who talked to him during the evening, except that he was suffering from a slight attack of indigestion.
Coroner Jackson, who visited the house before the body was removed, found evidence that the man had retired as usual but apparently spent a restless night, having gotten up several times. It is thought that he suffered a hemorrhage and was able only to reach the bed where he fell prone.
The body was removed to the L.
N. Bradley morgue and prepared for burial. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.
Mr. Hines is survived by his widow three children, and two sisters, one at Uhrichville and another at Steubenville.
The children are Mrs. Arthur Hartsough, of Charles street, Bernice, Olive, Selma and Ray, who live at the home, 71 North Fourth street.
Mr. Hines had been looking after the stock on the Stuart farm for several months, occupying a small house on the place.

ring career had Willard felt any discomfort from any blow delivered on his body, and he did not fear Johnson's jabs. Willard seemed very fit, indeed, when he left his quarters for the park. The inflammation to his eye, from the splash of chloroform liniment last night has yielded rapidly to treatment and it is not believed it will have any ill effects.
U. S. ATTORNEY HAS DEPUTIES AT RINGSIDE
(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, April 5.—United States District Attorney Clyde announced today that the government had stationed men at the ringside of the Johnson-Willard fight in Havana.
Mr. Clyde declined to go into details regarding the purpose for which the secret service men had been ordered to Cuba.
"Sensational developments may be announced later in the day," he said, "but at present all I can say is that the men have been stationed at the ringside and will watch every move which Johnson makes after his fight. Their actions will be governed largely by circumstances."
It was intimated that should Johnson journey outside of the three mile limit in Cuban waters or approach the shore line of the United States that he would be taken in custody and hurried before the federal court in Chicago.

ital was held on the spacious White

THE GERMAN WOUNDED

Berlin, April 5.—By wireless to Sayville, L. I.—The Germans are terrifically systematic about their care of the wounded. All their men found on the battlefield receive a "first aid dressing." Each is tagged with a card, which indicates whether he is badly hurt or not. From the battlefield the wounded men are gotten back to the field hospitals or to headquarters. A man may be badly wounded and yet be back on the firing line in three months. Good pure blood is what helps the soldier through—his wounds heal easily after antiseptic dressings.
It is well for everybody to put the blood in good order. Don't trifle with health! its too precious a possession.
It is trifling to neglect the little every-day kind of ailments. It is trifling, too, to take medicines of unknown or doubtful ingredients. If your stomach gets out of order, your food is not digested and, of course, your blood gets thin and you become weak, ready to be a prey to the disease germs always ready to attack the run-down and the anemic. If your blood can't do its work, your blood becomes impure and many troubles follow. If your bowels are irregular, poisons accumulate in your body. Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (in tablet or liquid form) helps the stomach to digest food properly, strengthens the liver, regulates the liver, regulates the bowels. As a consequence you are vigorous, full of snap and life! Fifty years ago Dr. Pierce discovered that a glyceric extract of Golden Seal and Oregon grape root of queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark would aid all the digestive organs to work as Nature intended they should. Thousands have found that the "Golden Medical Discovery" he then introduced to the world has restored them to health when suffering from stomach and liver troubles. Now is the time to try this famous remedy.—Adv.
The Passing of Napoleon.
Mr. Lorraine Petre has managed to say something almost new about Napoleon, no small feat in these days of intimate research. In his "Napoleon's Last Campaign in Germany, 1813," he tells us that Napoleon's overthrow was accompanied by not actually caused by the changed conditions of his adversaries. He found himself no longer fighting against dynasties with their disciplined and hired armies, but against whole peoples "encouraged by the examples of Spain and Russia to rise en masse against the tyranny of the oppressor." Mr. Petre reminds us of the story first told by Lord Acton of Napoleon's realization that his star was on the decline. Lord Acton says:
"Having been repulsed at Laon by the Prussians, Napoleon tried his fortune against the Austrians and was defeated at Austerlitz. It was here he understood that the end had come and that he rode forward and stood over a shell about to explode. An officer on the point of uttering a warning cry was stopped by another, who said, 'Don't you see that he is doing it on purpose and wants to have it over?' It is related that Grouchy said of Napoleon at Waterloo, 'Il a oublié l'art de la guerre' (He has forgotten the art of war).—Argonaut.
Jack Horner a Reality.
Few people know that the nursery legend of "Little Jack Horner" conceals a real tragedy. At the reformation the chief of an abbey in the west of England resolved to surrender and in token thereof to send the deeds of the religious house to Henry VIII. at Whitehall. For security's sake the abbot placed the documents in a pie dish and covered them with crust.
The dish, without saying a word about the contents, he gave to a lout, Jack Horner, with instructions to carry it by road to the king in London. About halfway Jack Horner became ravenous and came to the conclusion that it was foolish of him to starve while he was the custodian of a pie. So he broke the crust and put in his thumb and pulled out a roll of parchment!
The disgraced Jack Horner chuckled the lot into an adjacent brook. The nonarrival of the deeds caused Bluff King Hal to suspect the abbot of contumacy, so his majesty commanded that the poor cleric should be hanged.—

Feats For an Emperor.
Lady Mary Montagu's Italian habit of waking at 7 a. m. to drink asses' milk and then going to sleep again was only a feeble rivalry of the program of the Emperor Charles V. At 5 a. m. he breakfasted on a fowl seethed in milk and dressed with sugar and spices.
Then he slumbered again. His next meal was at noon, when he dined, partaking always of twenty dishes. Two suppers came later, one after vesper (what we might call a high tea) and the other at midnight or 1 a. m., the most substantial meal of the four.
After meat he disposed of vast quantities of pastry and sweetmeats, and the whole was washed down with copious drinks of beer and wine. It took forty years of such feeding to make not his appetite, but his taste, fail. He then began to find all food insipid.—

REPORTED THAT TURKS DESTROY BRITISH SHIP

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Berlin, April 5.—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—A report received in Berlin from Athens says the British battleship Lord Nelson, stranded inside the Dardanelles Straits, has been destroyed by the fire of the Turkish guns on shore.
This information was given out today by the Overseas News Agency.
A council of war held by the British and French admirals, the Athens dispatch continues, decided to postpone the attempts to force the Dardanelles on account of the insufficient strength of the attacking expedition.
This despatch contains the first intimation of the loss of the British battleship Lord Nelson. Her name has not been mentioned in any of the dispatches concerning the Dardanelles operations.
She was 410 feet long, and was built in 1906. She was armed with four 12-inch guns, ten 9.2 inch and thirteen 3-inch guns and carried 865 men.
COUNT ZEPPELIN IS NOT SATISFIED WITH AIR CREWS
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Romanshorn, Switzerland, Friday,
April 2.—Via Paris, April 5.— Count Zeppelin is not satisfied with the manner in which his airships are being handled. He called together one day this week his engineers and the captains of the dirigibles now at the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, and criticised them on several scores.
The count said that the full power of the Zeppelins had not been employed and that longer raids than any made heretofore were possible.
He also said that there was too much of a disposition to await favorable weather conditions instead of responding without delay to military requirements. He believed that an attack upon London and the lower Thames had been delayed unnecessarily. The count also is understood to have criticised his captains for retreating from hostile airmen.
ITALIAN TROOPS MOBILIZING ON THE AUSTRIAN FRONTIER
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Chiasso, Switzerland, April 5.—
Via Paris—The assembling of Italian troops on the Austrian frontier is continuing with the greatest activity.
All houses of peasants in the districts bordering the confines affected have been occupied by soldiers.
This information reaches Chiasso from Italian sources. It is learned from the same sources that still more important military activity is under way. Information on this point is refused transmission by the Italian censors.
DIETING TO KEEP WELL
Some people are born with a tendency to certain diseases. What they eat either aggravates this condition or tends to correct it.
Anybody can see the importance of a proper diet but few know how to select the proper food. Lack the instinct that tells them what to eat and what to avoid.
It is a fact that proper diet and a good tonic will keep people well under most conditions and restore them to health except in acute diseases where the need of a physician is imperative.
Start today by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the dietbook, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is full of useful information and describes the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, for those conditions of indigestion or gas on the stomach, discomfort after eating, caused by lack of tone in the digestive organs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the stomach with well-oxygenated blood without which good digestion is impossible. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic and are free from poisons.
A short course of treatment with these pills will show in an improved appetite, better digestion, refreshing sleep and quiet nerves. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR
Try this! Mix Sage Tea and Sulphur and brush it through your hair, taking one strand at a time.
When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.
Gray faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger. Frank D. Hall

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD
Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.
A well known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.
He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.
Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

HOUSE WARMING & SPRING OPENING AT PARISH STORE

The house warming celebration at the C. R. Parish Co. furniture store Saturday was a huge success. Not only was the completion of extensive improvements celebrated on this occasion but it was a formal spring opening of every thing new in furniture—all the new things in this line for the spring and summer of 1915—and it was a sight well worth seeing—the five floors of this big store crowded with everything needful to make the home beautiful.

The splendid new display window was converted into an ideal up-to-date library with its artistic Jacobean furniture, beautiful rugs, draperies, electric portable lamp, etc.

During the hours from 2 to 4 and 7:30 to 9:30 souvenirs of flowers to ladies and cigars to the gentlemen were dispensed. The store was beautifully decorated with ferns and palms from Kent Bros. and a splendid musical program was rendered by the Nutter-Hawkins orchestra. C. L. Gamble, general manager of the Parish stores, J. W. Elliott, auditor, Chas. Morrow, assistant bookkeeper, Harry Geis, stock man, all of Columbus, were present to entertain the guests and they were ably assisted by the home force consisting of D. P. Runinger, G. F. Smith, Miss Barber, Virgil Moore, A. L. Russell, A. S. Russell, Levi Parker, F. L. Miller and Miss Laughlin.

GERMAN REPORT

Berlin, April 3.—By wireless to Saville.—The following statement was given out here today:

"Provocative reports in English and neutral newspapers that the crew of the German submarine which sank the British steamer Falaba launched at the death struggles of the passengers and refused to assist them although having opportunity to do so, are shameful lies."

"England's decision to attack by merchant ships and to give prizes for successful attacks forces submarines to act without loss of time."

FRENCH REPORT

Paris, April 3.—Via London.—The French war office today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting which reads:

"The military authorities have received precise information concerning the results of the bombardment carried out by British aviators in Belgium on the 26th of March. A dirigible hangar at Berch n-Sle-Antille was seriously damaged, as was the dirigible ship sheltered therein. At Hoboken in the Antwerp naval construction shipyards were destroyed and a third damaged, while four German workmen were killed and six-two were wounded."

Hebron Men Badly Hurt In Auto Accident; One Of the Victims May Die

Edward Gockenbach, Russell Balthis, Albert Good, Louis Bishop and Arthur Gockenbach, all of Hebron, O., were injured Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock when their auto skidded on the edge of a road on the National pike between Reynoldsburg and Columbus, when they attempted to go around another machine.

The young men had left Hebron with the intention of spending the afternoon in Columbus. Mr. Gockenbach, who is aged 41, was driving. They reached a point in the road about two miles east of Capital University, when they attempted to go around the other machine and the Hebron car skidded and slid into a ditch and overturned, pinioning the driver and Mr. Balthis, aged 22, underneath. The other three men were hurled from the car.

A number of people who happened in the near vicinity assisted in raising the machine from the victims bodies and a call was sent for an ambulance, the one from police headquarters responding. The five men were rushed to the Grant hospital at Columbus and an examination showed that young Balthis was the most seriously injured, being hurt internally, a gash being cut in his head, his lower lip lacerated and his teeth knocked out. Mr. Gockenbach had his back hurt and his left shoulder dislocated. The other three men, Messrs. Good, aged 31, Bishop, 27, and Gockenbach, 20, a cousin of the driver, were slightly bruised and scratched and it was not necessary for them to remain at the hospital.

EASTER

WAS FITTINGLY CELEBRATED IN ALL NEWARK CHURCHES SUNDAY

Special Music Featured the Services and There Were Many Accessions to the Church Rolls.

Those who trusted to the gloom and cold to hide the shabbiness of a brushed up winter attire, on Easter Sunday were disappointed, while the owners of new frocks and outfits were much elated by the bright sunshine, and its warmth.

And many certainly availed themselves of the advantageous weather and the streets were filled with the gaily bedecked persons, and the outfits included everything from the fur coat to the white lingerie gown with white shoes. In striking contrast to last year's narrow skirts, this year the Easter parade was marked by frills and flares, and nearly every bonnet boasted yards of ribbon streamers.

At all the churches the Easter tide was most fittingly celebrated, and special musical programs had been arranged by all the choirs. The churches were beautifully arranged with a great profusion of Easter flowers, and the congregations taxed the capacity of nearly all churches.

It was an Easter of flowers, and the florists of the city reported Saturday night, that it was the maximum year for them, and while the supply in the city far exceeded that of any former years, nearly the entire output was sold.

FIFTH STREET BAPTIST.

The Easter services at the Fifth Street Baptist church, called out large congregations, the church being filled both morning and evening. The Sunday school gave a special but brief program, which added to the interest and delight of all. The worship commenced with the ordinance of Baptism, there being a number receiving it. A special feature was the honor paid to five of the members who had been in the church over 50 years; the pastor called them "The Jubilee Members." Mrs. Patheena Conrad and Mrs. Sarah E. Boner each 62 years in the church; Mrs. Rachael Hendricks 58 years; Mrs. Jane Brown 51 years; and Mr. James Wilson 53 years. It was stated that if any others had been in the fellowship so long they would be honored too at the next occasion.

Mr. E. Cary Norris on behalf of the Trustees of the church presented each with a bouquet of flowers and a Bible, suitably inscribed. Then the audience gave them the hand of congratulation and a brief prayer ended that part of the service. The pastor preached on the subject: "The Place Where the Lord Lay." He spoke only 20 minutes and closed at 12. In the evening the Knights Templar came out and attended the worship in a body. They always make an excellent appearance, and a large audience was present. The pastor spoke some welcome words to them, saying that the Templar cross was now being carried in all parts of the world and that the influence of these fundamental truths upheld by them, was a great good in society. His subject was: "The Resurrection of the Human Body." He pointed out some false theories regarding the resurrection; then took up the affirmation of the Bible: showed the characteristics of the risen body, and named the ground upon which the resurrection hope rests. The musical numbers, solos, duets, and anthems were splendidly rendered.

EAST MAIN STREET U. B.

Banner day for East Main Street U. B. Sunday School, Easter Sunday, the enrollment of one thousand was more than reached, eight hundred and six being in attendance, a fine program, subject: Life's Morning was rendered by the primary department, which by the never tiring efforts of Miss Katie Miller the scholars did fine. The music given by Mr. Morris and his small son proved to be a treat for all. The Golden Rule Class of 129 in attendance was up to all expectations, the men's class is moving by leaps and bounds in number and in knowledge, so we look for still greater things every department registering up to the standard of being better and doing more for the cause which we know is so important.

NO LEGISLATION IS IN SIGHT FOR CITY LIGHT PLANT

Council tonight will be officially notified that the proposed bond issue for the municipal electric light plant failed to carry at the special election held last Tuesday. The election board will certify the result of the election to the city council tonight.

Those familiar with the situation claimed Monday that there was no indication that any action would be taken Monday night other than to receive and file the communication from the election board.

The routine reports and some legislation for proposed street improvements will be up for consideration.

Will Execute Sentence.

A mandate to Justice Fletcher S. Scott from the Court of Appeals requests the execution of the sentence from the justice court of George W. Horton imposed July 28, 1913, against Al Withers, a fine of $50 and costs for having in his possession a set net.

Withers carried the case to common pleas court, where he lost, and from there to the court of appeals, a decision being given in that court several weeks ago, finding against the defendant. The costs in the case total $97. Constable Chas. Moore left this afternoon for Buckeye Lake and expects to return with defendant. In case he does not pay the fine and costs he would have to serve a jail sentence, which would keep him in that institution some length of time.

PEACE OUR 5 PER CENT

SOUGHT BY TURKEY AND AUSTRIA INDEPENDENT OF THE ATTITUDE OF GERMANY

Such Rumor Finds Credence at Rome, in View of Turk Diplomat's Visit to Switzerland.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Rome, April 4.—Via Paris, April 5.—In spite of various official denials from some of the belligerent nations that preliminary steps have been taken to conclude peace, especially by Austria and Turkey without consulting Germany, the report that Djavid Pasha, Turkish minister of finance, who is now in Switzerland, is on a mission of peace, finds credence here.

It is pointed out that Djavid Pasha was one of the first Turkish envoys to undertake at Ouchy, Switzerland, the conclusion of an Italo-Turkish peace and that he conducted his preliminary negotiations by roundabout methods through neutral diplomats. While he has denied emphatically that he is at present engaged in a similar mission, it is considered here that his denial should not be taken too seriously because he scarcely could admit at this time that his government seeks a cessation of hostilities. Similar denials were made by him when he first undertook the task of bringing about an agreement between Italy and Turkey.

THOUGHT SHE WAS FACING PARALYSIS

But After Taking Two Bottles of Nerv-Worth Local Woman was Cured.

"Before testing Nerv-Worth I had a nervous breakdown. Could not walk with any comfort. Thought I had paralysis. Could get up stairs only by crawling. Was not able to be up in daytime—was in bed about half the time during the day. Had pains in my back and shoulders and was tired in the morning when I got up. After taking two bottles of Nerv-Worth I feel very different and can work as well as I did 10 years ago. All pains are gone and my sleep is refreshing. I am now 63 years old, and in as good health as the next person."

In these strong terms Mrs. James Kagey, residing at the time at No. 28 Western avenue, described her happy experience with Nerv-Worth. If the reader is a nervous-debility

A NEWARK MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Results Tell The Tale.

Can you doubt the evidence of this Newark citizen?

You can verify Newark endorsement.

Read this:

William H. H. Deenis, 59 German street, Newark, says: "I had such a bad back I couldn't work. If I tried to bend, a sharp stitch caught me and almost doubled me up. Nights I wasn't able to sleep from the dull pains across my loins and in the morning I couldn't put my shoes on. My wife often had to assist me to dress. The kidney secretions passed too frequently every night and got me out of bed. The secretions also contained heavy sediment. I failed to get my benefit from the different remedies I tried, until a neighbor told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes; the first didn't help me much, but the second did and the third made a complete cure. Today I am in good health and have a strong back."

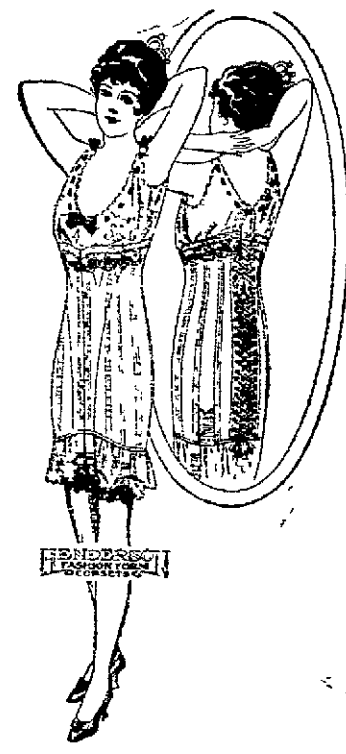

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Deenis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CHAUTAUQUA FOR NEWARK TO HAVE BIG ATTRACTIONS

Those interested in the local Chautauqua will meet in the very near future to begin an active campaign and complete arrangements for this season's program. It is known that Dr. Gonsalaus, Strickland Gilliland and Fierillo's band will be three of the numbers, the latter organization having an entire change of program from that of last year, when the famous organization was greeted with packed tents at both afternoon and evening concert.

It is expected that the Chautauqua will be held in the Sixth street park, the same location as last year. The managers will try and make arrangements to that effect. Everyone connected with the local Chautauqua is enthusiastic for the outlook and state that this year's entertainment, which will be furnished by the Redpath bureau, will be bigger and greater than ever. Get in line and start boosting for the Newark Chautauqua.
